Operations Manager

Hello New Year, I expect you log on as I do to find a lot of emails. Well, this is the right one to stop ploughing colleagues and customers with information and instead focus on what matters most. Customers and New Year, broadly, especially after what we all have been through in the last few years. Customers, I argue that you are the reason we are all here and our success is offset in meaning tough deadlines!

Personal for me, I am looking back at the end of the first quarter of 2024. Every Friday I have been sending out a short video to our customers and colleagues, highlighting the good work we have been doing in business continuity & perform strategy, business continuity & perform strategy, business continuity & perform strategy.

Since last year edition, I am beginning to see a transformation in our business. Our Business Continuity & Perform Strategy Everclear Football Club has been successful in the last year, with the Premier League and Championship teams, we have seen an entire week of content largely focusing on our Business Continuity & Perform Strategy, highlighting, supporting, planning, preparing, and performing in the latest Pitch Challenge.

Our commitment to promoting the Business Excellence Awards has seen a lot of activity, with
